Care home hit by CQC warning

A HARLOW care home has been warned it could face legal action from the Government's healthcare watchdog unless it makes "urgent improvements" to the quality of care it provides to its elderly residents.

The Care Quality Commission has published a damning report on the Partridge Care Centre following an unannounced inspection conducted at the home in May this year.

Inspectors found that the centre on Partridge Road was "not compliant" with all national care standards assessed and have now given operator Rushcliffe Care until August 23 to put its house in order - or else face enforcement action.

The report noted that the home was not providing residents staying on the Mallard Unit - a specialist wing for residents suffering from Alzheimer's and dementia - with appropriate levels of care to meet their needs.

Inspectors found that some residents did not receive their breakfast until after 11am, and highlighted concerns over substantial delays in staff supporting residents during their morning routine.

They also noted a "lack of meaningful activity provision and interaction" in the unit.

A CQC spokeswoman told the Star: "As a result of our inspectors' findings regarding the regulation relating to the care and welfare of people who use services, CQC has issued a warning to the provider stating that chris.moss@hertssexnews.co.uk

improvements are needed.

"A deadline of August 23 has been set for the improvements to be made."

She added that inspectors would return unannounced "in due course" to check whether the required improvements had been made.

"If the required improvements are not made within the set timescale, CQC has a range of enforcement powers, which include restricting the services that a provider can offer, or, in the most serious cases, suspending or cancelling a service."

"CQC can also issue financial penalty notices and cautions, or prosecute the provider for failing to meet national standards."

It is the latest in a series of blows for the centre, which came under fire last year when former staff members and relatives of residents accused staff and management of a catalogue of abuse and neglect dating back several years.

The home also hit the headlines in 2011 when three of its elderly residents were admitted to hospital suffering from "diabetes-related problems."

A subsequent police investigation was dropped when officers failed to find any evidence of criminal wrongdoing.

RELATIVES' CONCERNS?

www.harlowstar.co.uk

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who has criticised the home in the past after being contacted by concerned relatives of its residents, said he was "deeply concerned" by the CQC's latest report.

"The findings only relate to one unit at the care home, but this is still very worrying," he said.

"I have spoken at length with the CQC and will be meeting with centre management to discuss these issues further."

"It is imperative that the home's residents receive the highest standards of care at all times."

Rushcliffe Care refused to comment.

Little princes share a Royal birthday at PAH

PROUD new mums shared in the excitement of the Royal birth on Monday after making special deliveries of their own at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Rachel Howell (24) of Bush Fair, gave birth to baby Leo Cuthbert at 4.35pm - just 11 minutes after the future King was born.

She told the Star: "We only found out the Royal baby had been born at the same time the following morning."

"I wasn't due until August 3 and she was overdue, so I didn't expect it to be on the same day and so close!"

Father Aaron Cuthbert (28), whose son weighed 7lb 11oz at birth, added: "It was very exciting to see him being born."

Parents Louise Wallis (28)

and Paul Baker (29) of Tunnmeade, welcomed baby Charlie Baker to the world after he was delivered by caesarean section at 9.40am, weighing 9lb 8oz.

Ms Wallis said: "It is nice for him to share a birthday with the Prince third in line to the throne."

"We were watching throughout the day to see when the Royal baby would be born - at least he won't forget his date of birth!"

A total of 15 babies - 10 boys and five girls - were born at Princess Alexandra Hospital on the day.

All parents of babies born on July 22 can now apply to claim a free silver coin from the Royal Mint to celebrate the fact their child shares a birthday with the Prince of Cambridge.

Laptops taken in college raid

POLICE are trying to trace two men wanted in connection with the theft of 17 laptops from Harlow College.

The high-end computers were stolen during two raids on July 17 and July 22.

The first took place between 1.30pm and 2.30pm and the second at around 4am.

The force has now released CCTV images captured during both break-ins in the hope of tracing two men wanted for questioning.

Both are described as white and in their late teens to early 20s.

Investigating officer Pc Donna Money said: "The theft of these laptops means young people are being deprived of essential equipment to assist their learning."

"I would appeal to people to look carefully at the CCTV and contact me if they know who these people are."

To view both CCTV images, log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Pc Money on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Council ditches plans to scrap free parking

CONTROVERSIAL plans to introduce a charge for the first hour of parking in council-controlled car parks across Harlow are set to be scrapped by the authority's Labour administration.

The U-turn follows mounting pressure from residents, local businesses and Conservative councillors concerned about the impact of the proposals, which were pushed through as part of Harlow Council's last budget.

However, the authority now needs to generate £20,000 annually to mitigate the loss of revenue, and plans to do this by raising parking fees for "long-stay motorists" instead.

Speaking to the Star this week, Council Leader Mark Wilkinson said: "We have always been open and honest about the tough decisions we have had to make as a result of the Tory-led government's crippling funding cuts to our annual budget.

"Since the decision was taken to introduce this charge, we have spent a lot of time talking to residents and local businesses, and because of the strength of feeling on this issue we have now come up with an alternative plan."

"We will always put residents' concerns first, and this change of plan proves we will do everything in our power to address those concerns."

Suzi Stride, Labour's general election candidate for Harlow, added: "I know the council has been forced to make difficult decisions because of Tory government cuts to local council funding, but local people have told me that they rely on the reduced parking rate - particularly when families are feeling the squeeze."

"Harlow Council's decision shows that it listens and acts for Harlow residents."

But Conservative councillor Russell Perrin - who set up an 800-signature petition calling for the original plans to be scrapped - said his party should take most of the credit for forcing the council into a "classic U-turn".

"I'm pleased that Labour councillors have listened to us and changed their mind on a decision that would have hit motorists and local businesses hard in the pocket," he told the Star.

"I just hope that they have done their homework on how they are now going to make up the revenue shortfall caused by their U-turn."

Councillors pay their way in Water Gardens car park

SIR, I write in response to this week's letter from a Star reader suggesting that council staff should pay to park at the Water Gardens. This is already the case as both council staff and councillors have not parked for free at the Water Gardens for over four years.

On weekdays part of the Water Gardens Car Park is allocated to the council for employees to use when at work. Staff who park there pay with the money deducted from their monthly salaries.

Councillors also have to pay to park in the Water Gardens. The income raised from this goes towards providing Harlow Council services.

As for potholes, which the reader also mentions, the responsibility for repairing these on the town's main roads lies with Essex County Council and they can be reported for repair at www.essexhighways.org.

Councillor Tony Durcan

Not everyone receiving benefits is a sponger

SIR, I write again with reference to John Wake's letter and thought I would give those that think living on benefits is a life of luxury food for thought.

I am receiving £50 benefits as I am suffering from a mental health issue due to childhood molestation and abuse, and I am on a number of medications for it.

From that £50 I pay £15 per week for council tax, and because when I worked I bought my own home I pay £20 per week for rent and service charges.

I also pay £5 for water per week, £5 for gas and £5 for electricity - this leaves me with the grand total of £2 on some weeks, if I do not cook, bathe or eat.

I have recently received a court summons as I am behind in paying the £50 per month, with £50 added for costs and £95 court costs - even though through my psychiatric nurse Harlow Council verbally agreed with her I could pay so much each week to clear it.

They seem to have re-tracked the agreement with her.

So I beg those who feel I am well off and do not want to work to think again; some of us are not spongers.

Having mental health issues is not fun and most employers DO NOT see beyond that or even want to know what caused our illness to have an understanding.

They don't care, and their attitude is why should they?

Rob told the Star: "I took this photo of a falcon on a hot day while the bird was bathing - I think it's a nice image."

If you have a photo taken in Harlow you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high-resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

Jobless need to be given incentives to find work

SIR, Is anything being done in this town to actively encourage fit, able-bodied people living on benefits to seek work and earn their housing, food and clothing?

I did not believe people lived off benefits until an entire family moved in, shall we say near me, as genuine free speech is no longer permitted in the United Kingdom.

As they rarely leave the house and spend most of the day shouting and yelling at each other, it seems pretty obvious they do not work.

This has been going on for five months now, not just during the hot spell. There is clearly not much wrong with them physically.

If they are fit enough to scream at each other all day and produce two small children then they are strong enough to find a job - and would certainly have less time and energy for arguing.

Plus, if one of them went to work the surrounding neighbours might actually get a bit of peace occasionally.

Name and address supplied

NHS has always treated me with dignity and respect

SIR, In the national paper and on the television this week there have been many accounts of sub-standard treatment in some parts of the NHS.

Obviously these cases must be very distressing for the patients concerned and their families.

However, I wanted to say that I have been an NHS patient for many years and that the treatment I have received has been very good.

For many years I have suffered from mental illness and have needed medicine and talking therapies to help me deal with it.

The medical help and support staff at the Derwent Centre near Princess Alexandra Hospital and at the Nuffield Health Centre in The Stow have been marvellous, and I am really grateful for their efforts.

So I would like to say a big thank you to all NHS staff in Harlow for their help and support over the years.

Diamond couple celebrating sixty years of marriage

CHILDHOOD sweethearts Doris and John Burton will be celebrating their Diamond wedding anniversary next Thursday with a celebration for family and friends.

Mr and Mrs Burton, of The Hornbeams, met at the age of 12 while at Churchgate Street School - and have been inseparable ever since.

Mrs Burton (81) told the Star: "We were twelve when we met in school and we never lost touch."

"We left school, we went to work and it carried on from there."

She added: "We married at Saint Mary's Church and the whole village came to the wedding - we had two busloads of guests and our photograph with our eight bridesmaids even appeared on the front page of the Harlow Gazette!"

Mr Burton (80) was in the army as a corporal and pay clerk and Mrs Burton worked in the post office in Burnt Mill.

The couple, who have four sons and one daughter, six grandchildren and two great-granddaughters, said the secret of their long marriage was mutual respect and trust.

"You just have to have respect for one another and trust each other. Take each day as it comes," Mrs Burton added.

"We have never had other girlfriends or boyfriends - it's always been us. We're very family-orientated and we have had a party organised for us with family and friends we haven't seen in a while."

Man facing trial over rape charge

A HARLOW man will go on trial later this year after pleading not guilty to rape and sexual assault charges.

Malani Kumwenda (31), of Dads Wood, denied a total of seven offences during an appearance at Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday.

He stands accused of rape, sexual assault, assault causing actual bodily harm, three counts of assault by penetration and an attempt to cause grievous bodily harm.

The offences are all alleged to have taken place between August 2011 and August 2012.

The defendant was remanded on bail pending the start of his trial, which has been scheduled to take place at Chelmsford Crown Court in November this year.

Man arrested after high-speed car chase

A MAN was arrested following a high-speed car chase through Old Harlow on Saturday morning.

The 23-year-old, who was driving a blue Renault Clio, failed to stop for police in Old Road.

The police helicopter was dispatched to the area after the driver dumped the vehicle and fled on foot shortly after 1am.

He was later arrested on suspicion of various driving offences, failing to stop for police, taking a vehicle without consent and possession of a Class A drug.

He has since been released on police bail until September 3 pending further inquiries.

Anyone with information on the incident can contact investigating officers at Harlow Police Station on 101.

UKIP questions Labour hopeful's trade union links

TRADE union Unite has dismissed claims that Labour's parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride is at union bosses' "beck and call" as "ludicrous".

A recently leaked Unite memo suggested the union had had a "direct impact" in influencing the selection of several of Labour's general election candidates - with Harlow quoted as one of the constituencies it had targeted.

According to local UKIP activist and former Tory councillor Mark Gough, the memo proves that Ms Stride - who is a Unite member and received their official endorsement during the candidate selection process - is at the "beck and call" of union bosses.

"What concerns Harlow UKIP is the leaked Unite memo which revealed the union were targeting 41 seats, and that they have had a 'direct impact' in Harlow," he told the Star.

"We believe that Harlow's Labour Party must come clean with the people of Harlow - as otherwise another Labour selection process may need referring to the police."

But an East of England Labour Party spokesperson claimed the selection process had been completely above board.

"The Harlow selection was fair and transparent. The Labour Party is determined to ensure that every candidate will be selected in an open and fair way that respects the members and the traditions of this party," she said.

BIANCA CASTRO

"We have taken clear and strong action to ensure our rules are followed."

"We are satisfied that selections across the country are being carried out properly and any suggestion otherwise would be wrong."

A spokesman for Unite - which has over 1.4 million members from all over the working world - similarly rebuffed claims of improper conduct.

"Suzy Stride was endorsed by Unite, and she is a Unite member with a working class background and won her role as a parliamentary candidate by a very large margin."

"She has the backing of the local Labour party and is going to be an excellent candidate in the general elections."

"Any suggestion by UKIP of skulduggery is ludicrous."

"Everything was done above board and democratically. There have been no underhand tactics or questionable actions."

"We believe Suzy is a wonderful candidate and she will fight, and is fighting, for the people of Harlow."

NOSTALGIA

Harlow Choral Society was dad's labour of love

ON SONG: Jack Wadley (left) with Bryan Barnes presenting an end of term gift to society member Barbara Wander at rehearsals
in The Stow

NOSTALGIA reader Paul Wadley has kindly sent in his memories of the Harlow Choral Society, a group which his father, Jack Wadley, 'loved dearly'.

Mr Wadley, of St Andrews Meadow, said: "I have very fond memories as a young teenager helping my father and working with a gang of other volunteers from Harlow Choral Society to arrange the concert venues during the 1960s and 70s."

The Harlow Choral Society, which was founded in 1960 by Bernard Apps, was one of the first musical groups to perform at the Harlow Playhouse - rounding up the theatre's first week of events in November 1971.

But, according to a letter

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

written to the Harlow Gazette by the society's then chairman, it ceased to exist less than five years later. From its ashes, Harlow Chorus and Harlow 'Phoenix' Choral Society - two new groups - emerged.

The two groups differed in one main aspect: Harlow Phoenix allowed anyone to join its ranks, while Harlow Chorus did not.

"There were letters written to the Harlow Gazette voicing concerns about the demise of one choral society and some promoting the move to provide a higher standard of music," Mr Wadley told Nostalgia.

"My father was aghast when he read a letter from a Mr B Soul about his comments on raising musical standards - so much so he cut the letter from the paper which I still have today!

"The fallout and demise of Harlow Choral Society ran deep.

"It hurt my father immensely to see this still great choral society which he loved so dearly disappear overnight.

"Bernard Apps, the founding member and a friend of my father's, was also greatly hurt but he did not reveal his emotions and instead wished the new Harlow Chorus much success."

Hospital was a great place to work

MORE Nostalgia readers have come forward to share their stories of Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Retired nurse Lynda Baalham (61) who featured in last week's Nostalgia, brought in this photo of herself, right, in her uniform during her third year as a student nurse at PAH in 1973.

She said: "There were 24 in my group from all different parts of the country and four girls, including me, from Harlow. We all had to live in the nurses' home."

Sister Brenda Jordan, who now lives in Sawbridgeworth, started at PAH the day it opened and worked there until her early retirement in 1993.

She said: "I was 24-years-old when I started at PAH and I planned on only being there for six months but I liked it so much I stayed."

Ms Jordan (72) who met Princess Alexandra twice during the Royal's visits to the hospital added: "It was very exciting having to plan everything that was needed. As a sister I was in charge of running the ward, organising the nurses and looking after patients.

"I remember it was a very friendly place, everybody knew everybody else and there were sports and social clubs - I really enjoyed my time there."

NEWS IN BRIEF

ECC's trade mission to China

ESSEX County Council have been leading a trade mission to Jiangsu, China all this week.

ECC have been highlighting the activities of the mission party through social media website twitter using the hashtag #ECCChinaTrade.

Updates have included what meetings the group have been to, what they hope to achieve from the meetings and in many cases, the outcomes of the meetings.

The trip aims to help encourage trade and inward investment to China.

EEAST's new cars hit the road

THE first of the East of England Ambulance Service's new vehicles will roll out across the region from next week.

EEAST will begin the delivery of 110 new Skoda Scout response cars on the roads from today (Thursday), following an investment of around £14m in new emergency ambulances and £2.3m in the Trust's response car fleet.

The ambulance service will have 145 A&E ambulances and 110 rapid response cars by the end of June 2014, with 50 new ambulances in use before this Christmas.

Olympian's Honorary degree

DOUBLE Olympic gold medallist Laura Trott was honoured by the University of Essex for her contribution to cycling.

The Harlow-born athlete was picked to receive an honorary degree last Tuesday before being given a tour of the university's sports science department.

In her graduating speech, Miss Trott said: "You have the opportunity to pursue an academic path so your degree is your gold medal. Use the opportunities which life gives you - challenge yourself to do the best you can and follow your dreams."

Seagulls struggling to cope in heatwave

AS Harlow continues to bask in glorious sunshine this week, young seagulls finding it hard to cope with the soaring temperatures are flinging themselves off rooftops in the town centre in a bid to cool off.

Three fledglings have already been taken into the care of the Animal Rescue Charity in Bishop's Stortford following a number of calls for help from vets and members of the public.

The brown-feathered birds have been found in several different locations across Harlow after launching themselves from their rooftop nests - despite not being able to fly.

The first threw itself from the roof of the Pitney Bowes building in Pinnacles before being rescued by a member of staff. A second young gull was found in the Water Gardens and a third walking in the town centre.

ARC Manager Cherry Mitchell said: "With the high temperatures we have been experiencing we are expecting more calls but we are happy to be able to help the birds.

"We are feeding them a

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

diet of fish which they seem to really enjoy."

ARC trustee Jan Rose, who set up the animal rescue charity in 1990, said: "To get three young gulls in one day is very unusual and we'll be looking after the birds here until they can be rehabilitated.

"We have heard of a few sad instances where birds are falling into crowded areas in the middle of town - or worse - a road and by the time we are called it is too late.

"They've all come from different locations in Harlow and we're expecting a lot more calls like this."

Ms Rose added: "Normally we'd say you should return a young bird to its nest and the parent will look after it but in cases like this it's debatable.

"The best thing to do is make sure they are somewhere where they can be cared for and with access to water. Calling a rescue charity would be a good way to make sure they are looked after."

ECC makes changes to road repair programme

ESSEX County Council is proposing key changes to its highway maintenance programme to provide a consistent approach to repairs across the county.

The proposed changes will ensure that priority is given to roads which carry the highest volumes of traffic as routes will be classified as either 'County Roads' or 'Local Roads' under the new system.

Emergency repairs will continue to be given the highest priority on both road classifications and, where necessary, permanent repairs will be completed within five working days.

All damage will continue to be risk-assessed to assign a priority for repair. County Councillor Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways & transportation said: "We are making some important changes to our highway maintenance priorities in order to provide a more consistent approach across Essex."

Down's Syndrome support group's first trip

ZOO TIME: Francesca Griffiths celebrates her birthday with a trip to Paradise Wildlife Park

A CHARITY support group for children with Down's Syndrome celebrated two members' birthdays by visiting Paradise Wildlife Park.

Upwards with Downs was started in 2011 by Cristina Griffiths after her youngest daughter Francesca was diagnosed with Down's.

The support group hold regular activities at the Tree House Children's Centre and took their first trip for two of the group's youngsters' birthdays: two-year-old Francesca and Evie, who had just turned three.

Cristina said: "It was our first outing and everyone had a fantastic time. We looked at the animals, we went to a few shows, on a tour and then enjoyed ourselves by the pool area."

The self-funded group is now looking to the future - and needs new funding sources to continue.

"The funding from Thomas Cook Children's Charity was just for this year and we obviously want to continue," Cristina said.

"We do lots of things like music therapy and sign languages classes which are important for development - but it all costs money."

For more information, or to make a donation, log on to www.justgiving.com/upwardswithdowns.

Asda offers free arts workshops

SUPERMARKET giant Asda will be offering free summer workshops to its shoppers to help keep kids entertained.

Asda will be offering free craft activities for families every Friday throughout the school break.

From tomorrow (Friday, July 26) parents can drop their children off to take part in mask making, badge making and face painting workshops.

Asda Community Colleague Rachel Forth said: "This is a great chance for families to keep their children entertained during the break. It's free, fun and open to all."

"We look forward to having everyone down for one, if not all, the events."

Harlow's Age UK in need of donations

AGE UK is calling on residents to support its Harlow shop by having a summer wardrobe clear-out and donating their unwanted clothes.

The charity shop, based in West Gate, is in need of unwanted clothes, accessories, CDs, DVDs and household items.

Items can be taken to the shop, or a home collection can be arranged if there are a number of bags to donate.

Debbie Salmon, Manage of Harlow's Age UK, said: "All donations can make such a huge difference, because anything we cannot sell we recycle so nothing is wasted."

For more information, contact the charity on 0800 169 1819.

Pet store raises cash for charity

A FUNDRAISING appeal proved a big success as Pets at Home celebrated raising £1,298 for local animal charities.

The store on Edinburgh Way has been trying to raise money through a range of activities, including a raffle and a 'Round up to a £1' appeal where customers could opt to round up the cost of their purchases with the difference donated to the appeal, in an initiative run by Support Adoption For Pets.

The money will be donated to Aunty Animal and Southern Lurcher Rescue - two rescue charities who rehome abandoned and stray animals.

Store manager Xai Harinton said: "Our customers have proved incredibly generous and I want to thank them, and my store team, for helping to contribute to our store total as well as to the nationwide total."

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, July 19 was ticketholder 160888, who lives in Woodford Green.

The £100 second prize was won by ticketholder 482708, who lives in Harlow.

Harlow 5 Aid teams ready for big kick-off

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

THE countdown to the town's biggest-ever charity football tournament is almost over as final preparations are made for Harlow 5 Aid this Sunday (July 28).

Taking place on Harlow Town FC's new all-weather surface at the club's Barrows Farm stadium, the event will see Harlow Police FC tackle a celebrity team featuring UK Garage legends MC Sparks and MC Kie Garage, Britain's Got Talent finalist Tobias Mead and TOWIE favourite James Argent.

It will also feature an inter-schools 5-a-side tournament, live music and sideshows.

The teams will be raising money for Harlow Foodbank, the Shako Memorial Fund, the Cardiomyopathy Association, new charity No Child Without and the Variety Club of Great Britain.

HTFC's Vice President Steve Ray said: "The new pitch is laid down and we're all very excited with plenty of staff ready to go."

"It'll be a massive day for us and a great day for charity so 'bring it on' as they say!"

PCSO Stuart Burt, who manages Harlow Police FC, said: "Tickets sales are going really well. From the feedback and reaction we're expecting a full stadium but there will also be tickets on the door."

KICKING OFF: Sergeant Tony Smith, left, with Harlow Town FC events co-ordinator Jill Dumoulin and Harlow Police FC manager PCSO Stuart Burt

"We have the school football teams, and then the adult teams with the police, the teachers and the celebrities."

"It's going to be fantastic and we have something for everyone. There'll be entertainment from local bands as well as performers from the X Factor and Britain's got Talent. We're all very excited for Saturday."

PCSO Burt added: "It has gone from a charity football match to this huge event and it's brilliant."

"We have just had Danny Osborne from TOWIE confirm his attendance and he'll be playing in the celebrity team."

"We also have a few surprises in store too. It's going to be a great event and a great way to raise money for all our charities."

Harlow 5 Aid starts at 10am on Sunday (July 28). There will be overflow car parking available at Canons Brook golf course and Harlow Greyhound stadium.

Dancers bust a move at the O2 Arena

TALENTED dancers from Makin' Steps' adult formation strutted their stuff at the O2 Arena as part of the grand finale of a teen singing competition.

The 26 dancers travelled to the capital to perform at the Indigo02 venue as part of the bombastic finale of the Teen Star Competition.

Dance tutor Scott Simpson, who co-manages the school in Potter Street, said: "The dancers took time out of their rehearsals for our Class Showcase to put the finishing touches to their routine before jumping on a coach to the O2."

"There were a few unforeseen obstacles on the stage which the dancers had to contend with, but like true professionals they got on with it and performed the routine amazingly well."

The dancers all received specially-designed costumes for the performance and were praised by Teen Star organisers.

"Our students always do us proud," Scott added.

"We are very pleased to have been able to give them this opportunity."

Town park cinema airs this weekend

FILM fans are in for a treat on Saturday when Great Parndon Community Association stages its very first open-air cinema in Harlow Town Park.

The free screening, which will take place on the Bandstand, will feature smash hit musical Mamma Mia!, starring Meryl Streep and Pierce Brosnan.

The big-screen adaptation of Grease will also be shown in the coming weeks.

If the events prove a success, organisers hope to make the open-air cinema a regular feature in the summer calendar.

David Shimman of the GPCA said: "We chose these based on what seemed to be popular choices by what others were saying. We are featuring only musicals in the hope they will have something for everyone -

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

and may even get people up and dancing!

"It's the first open-air cinema the GPCA have hosted but we have played a key role in lots of Mr Shimman said the open-air cinema would be the first of many new events planned for the park.

"If this is the success we think it will be, we'll do it again next year - and maybe even run a drive-in cinema in the winter," he said.

"We want to put on as many free events as we can."

Councillor Jean Clark, portfolio holder for community & social inclusion, added: "The council is working with the GPCA to bring the Town Park Bandstand and Showground alive once again with events like the free outdoor picnic cinema."

Saturday's free screening of Mamma Mia! will begin at 9.30pm on the Bandstand. Audience members can bring their own food and drink and are advised to bring warm clothing.

Children In Care Council wins national film award

THE Essex Children In Care Council has won "most inspiring project" at a national event for its short video, titled 'I can'.

The CICC is made up of young people either in care or who have just left care, and aims to give its members the opportunity to tell the 'decision-makers' their thoughts on living in care.

The team won the award at the Listen Up! event, which brought together CICC's from across the country to share and showcase their work.

Their short film explores the aspirations, barriers and achievements for young people in care.

Essex County Councillor Dick Madden said: "It is very inspiring to see young people who are in or have been in care using their own experiences to help other children in the same position."

Essex Highways to test winter gritters

HARLOW may be basking in a summer heatwave, but Essex County Council are already preparing for the winter months.

Essex Highways will be taking out its fleet of gritting lorries over the next few weeks to test new salting routes across the county.

The proposed changes, designed to make road gritting more efficient during periods of severe cold weather, will mean shorter journeys for gritting lorries travelling to and from depots and reduce the amount of time it takes to complete runs.

County Councillor Rodney Bass said: "It may be surprising to see one of our gritting lorries out and about."

"However, we are simply carrying out some testing of our salting routes as we strive to provide a more efficient winter service for our residents."

Soldier walks 444 miles for fallen comrades

A FORMER soldier has raised almost £40,000 for armed forces charities after completing a mammoth endurance challenge in honour of his fallen comrades.

Ben Greer served in the Royal Air Force as a Chinook helicopter crewman and completed six tours of Afghanistan from 2006-2010.

After returning home, Mr

Greer decided to pay tribute to the 444 British service personnel who have died in Afghanistan by walking 444 miles across the UK with a 100kg pack on his back - the average weight of a soldier and their combat gear.

"I just wanted to do something that would show people we have not forgotten those who have fallen and their families,"

Mr Greer, who walked through Harlow on Thursday before heading to London for the final leg of his journey, said.

"I wanted to do something ridiculous because I wanted it to be noticed."

"If people can see how much it means to one person then maybe they will stop, think and understand better."

Warning over spike in air gun attacks on pets

THE number of airgun attacks on animals is on the increase, according to alarming new figures released by the RSPCA.

Almost 800 incidents were reported to the animal welfare charity in 2012 - an increase of 40 on the previous year.

Shocking data also shows that 438 reports had already been received by June 2013 - indicating that the overall figure is set to rise yet again this year.

The majority of the reports involved wild birds, but cats were the second most targeted animal.

As reported in the Star, there have been several attacks on cats and dogs in Harlow over the past six months.

In one incident, elderly Jack Russell Millie had to have one of its kidneys removed after being shot with a high-powered air rifle while out on a walk with owner Paul Whiston.

James Yeates, chief veterinary officer at RSPCA said: "Cats and wildlife are often the target of air rifle attacks, simply because they are out in the open with no one to protect them."

"The injuries caused by such attacks are horrific and often fatal. These attacks are often by people who just don't care about hurting animals or are deliberately targeting animals to keep them away from gardens."

"Whoever carries out these attacks needs to understand that they are illegal - you could face up to six months in prison if caught."

"The fact that we have received almost 800 reports of injured animals is deeply worrying and shows we still need to keep up our work to stop such attacks."

The RSPCA believes that a great many reports of animals shot with air weapons go unreported, often because owners are not aware that injuries have been caused in this way or because the animals are not found.

To report an incident of suspected animal cruelty, phone the RSPCA on 0300 1234 999.

Trio arrested for burglary are released without charge

THREE men who were arrested following a burglary in Harlow have been released without charge.

But this week all three

Leo shoots for the stars as celebrity personal trainer

A FORMER professional footballer is hoping to carve out a successful career off the pitch after becoming a personal trainer to the stars.

Leo Roget, who used to captain Harlow Town FC and played for pro clubs including Southend United, Stockport County, Oxford United and Watford, prides himself on helping "everyone and anyone" reach their fitness goals.

The fitness fanatic told the Star: "My job satisfaction comes from helping clients reach their goals. If someone comes to me and says 'I want to lose 18 pounds' or 'I want to run a marathon' then I won't be happy unless they reach or surpass that."

"I am happy to train everybody and anybody. I've trained celebrities, professionals, full-time parents and people with disabilities."

"It's all about finding out what people can do and tailoring my training accordingly so that they achieve what they want from the sessions."

Leo boasts an impressive CV having trained Jeff Brazier, TOWIE favourite Mark Wright, professional and semi-professional footballers, and emergency service personnel.

As well as training, he also offers his clients nutritional advice and lifestyle tips.

"You have to understand and cater for different people," he explained.

"I like to think I'm a good judge of character and some people will need to be pushed while others won't."

"You have to approach a training session differently for each person."

Recent successes for Leo's clients include the completion of two Ironman Challenges, finishing the London and Barcelona triathlons and climbing Mt Everest and Kilimanjaro.

Leo said: "I have a lot of passion for what I do and I like to be the best at what I do, which is why I push my clients to succeed with their goals."

"If they don't reach their target I don't feel like I've done my job properly. Their success is my success."

Newhall shortlisted for RIBA prize

HARLOW's Newhall Be development has made the shortlist for the coveted 2013 RIBA Stirling Prize for the best new building.

The housing development will now go head to head with five others across the country for architecture's highest accolade from the Royal Institute of British Architects.

The 2013 shortlist pits Newhall - designed by Alison Brooks Architects - against Park Hill in Sheffield, Astley Castle in Warwickshire, the University of Limerick Medical School and student housing, Bishop Edward King Chapel in Oxford and the Giant's Causeway Visitor Centre in Northern Ireland.

The development of 84 homes was shortlisted for its "radical re-thinking of the shape and interior of the UK house".

According to bookmakers William Hill, Newhall Be's odds of scooping the top prize are 3/1.

Angela Brady, RIBA President, said:

"The UK is blighted with unimaginative, poor quality houses that people don't want to live in but have little other choice, so I am delighted to see two amazing and highly original housing projects on this year's shortlist."

The winner of the RIBA Stirling Prize will be announced on September 26.

Kier reaches staff safety milestone

KIER Harlow is celebrating after reaching one million accident-free man-hours as part of its ongoing zero accident incident rate initiative.

The AIR scheme, which involves the entire workforce, aims to send every employee home safely at the end of each working day.

New strategies have been introduced to reduce incidents and costs and increase safety levels.

Kier Harlow operations director John Phillips said: "It is imperative for a company of our size to have strong health & safety practices in place, especially with the building repair and maintenance work we do."

"Our team has worked diligently to ensure the AIR figures stay at zero."

"While it is fantastic to have reached our target, our main priority is the safer working environment we have been able to create for all our employees."

COMPETITION

WIN £100 spending spree at Harlow's new-look TK Maxx

THIS week the Star has teamed up with TK Maxx to give five readers the chance to win a £100 spending spree at its newly-refurbished Harlow store.

The Water Gardens store is set to re-launch at 10am on Saturday, August 3 and will feature famous label fashion, shoes and accessories for men and women, as well as homeware, children's fashion and toys at up to 60 per cent off the recommended retail price.

The TK Maxx concept is simple. Buyers shop the world all year round working direct with designers and negotiating great deals to bring customers designer and famous brands at a fraction of normal retail prices.

With a modern, stylish no-frills store environment, further savings can be passed on to customers.

A typical TK Maxx store stocks an average 50,000 items with daily deliveries bringing up to 10,000 new items to store every week, so customers will always find a constantly fresh and exciting mix of top brands and great quality at the lowest prices every time they visit.

Enter this competition at harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure/Competitions

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
You may need to call upon every bit of patience you can muster this week, when hasty actions could cause real problems. Perhaps you'll want to break away from too many restrictions, but if so, try to think of the downsides too. Other influences may help to temper your mood. Slowing your thinking down and taking a more cautious approach can help. Call now for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
A lively social scene may be perfect for you right now. This can bring people into your world who understand where you are coming from, and because of this, there can be a strong chance to surround yourself with company that makes you feel very much at ease. Romance might unfold and bring a loving perspective to a relationship. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
You could go in a number of directions, depending on who you meet and the arrangements you make. The current planetary line-up may mean you feel edgy and ready for a change and a fresh perspective. Expect the unexpected, especially if you're embarking on a new plan. At the same time, your home may be your haven of peace. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
You may be feeling a lot more confident with both Jupiter and Mars on your side, so much so, that you may be considering making some bold moves. Perhaps you're beginning to appreciate just how talented you are, and because of this, may want to put your abilities to the test. Now is the time to do your homework, get advice and make a plan. Call me for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Although you're a spontaneous Fire sign, there's a chance you're finding the current focus on the element of Water a little awkward, as you generally prefer to think and act on the spur of the moment. If you can combine your gut feelings with fiery determination, you may successfully complete a current plan or project with ease. Call me now for more news and astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Connections with others blossom this week, and mainly show great potential. Venus in your sign, makes some lovely links to Mars and Pluto, suggesting that it's your passion for a certain idea, plan or person, that gets others inspired and sets things in motion. This might be the ideal time to collaborate on a project or to arrange a special romantic night out. Call for your love scope in full...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
You may have big ideas for ways you would like to change aspects of your life. However, you might need to stand your ground concerning someone who could oppose your plans. Compromise should not be an issue. If it is, you may have to agree to disagree. A show of strength on your behalf might be all it takes to get them off your trail. Call me for more news and astral advice...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
You could easily fall for someone now, especially as a link between Venus and Pluto adds passion to the equation and will heighten your senses. Although not a heavy duty influence, it could push a budding romance further along. A challenging aspect involving Mars and Uranus, might encourage a fast-forward approach, when a casual stroll might be more appropriate. Call for more advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
There's a disruptive aspect to the week ahead, which you might enjoy as you may be feeling edgy anyway. On the one hand, an exploration of new possibilities may make you some new friends who share your love of all things hip and cool. On the other, a budding romance may lose its thrill if you don't take sufficient command of the situation. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
You may invite problems by accepting obligations that you could later resent. This week, it helps to keep your options open, even if you feel duty-bound to agree to something. However, you might enjoy yourself more if you get involved in plans which open up your horizons and give you many more options to do the things you enjoy most. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
There's a chance you may get your wires crossed, which could result in disruption to a plan or event. However, it need not be all bad. You might find that an unexpected glitch leads you to something more interesting and suited to your needs. Meanwhile, the Sun and Uranus encourage connections with people who share your love of originality and uniqueness. Call for more news...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Try cooling it where other strong emotions are concerned. An important piece of information about a love interest could be missing, which might make a difference if it comes to light. There may also be some job news; perhaps a small but interesting change that makes things happier or easier. A creative suggestion may help with something you have been struggling with. A weekend of artwork in the Open Studios

THE ever-popular Open Studios weekend at Parndon Mill is reopening its doors to the public this weekend.

Last year, the Open Studios attracted around 700 visitors - and 2013 is promising to be even better.

Artwork crossing every discipline is featured in the two day event - part of the Essex Summer of Art - including glass, weaving, calligraphy, guitar-making, ceramics, jewellery and metalwork along with fine art pieces.

Visitors will also be given the opportunity to hear Parndon Mill's artists, craftspeople, designers and architects discussing their work and showcasing their talents, with the chance to join in with a fused glass workshop.

The exhibition in The Gallery - The Starting Line, which explores the skill and importance of drawing as the basis to art and design - will also be open to art-lovers. The show includes work of those who work at Parndon Mill as well as the gallery's regular exhibitors.

On Sunday afternoon, visitors can also enjoy a presentation and talk from author and curator Dr Augustus Casley-Hayford.

Go Wilde at Gibberd Garden

THE Gibberd Garden's beautiful surroundings will provide the perfect backdrop to DOT Productions retelling of Oscar Wilde's little-known comedy-thriller, Lady Windermere's Fan.

It is the acclaimed open-air theatre group's fourth year at The Gibberd Garden, and following a memorable performance of Wilde's The Importance of Being Earnest two years ago, the company have chosen to honour the famous writer with another adaption of one of his early masterpieces.

The play revolves around the young, rich and beautiful Lady Windermere, whose world comes crashing down when gossip queen the Duchess of Berwick tells her that her husband is having an affair with the mysterious Mrs Erynee, who is subsequently invited to Lady Windermere's 21st birthday ball.

The play is a comedic satire of mistaken identity, intrigue, marriage and witty one-liners - and is a production that DOT hopes will have audience members truly engrossed.

Co-Producer Ander Lindfield told the Star: "Oscar Wilde's plays are quintessentially English, and so is The Gibberd Garden."

"The whole experience is heightened by our surroundings - we simply love performing there."

"Oscar Wilde wrote, 'We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars.'"

"Well you needn't be watching from the gutter, just a nice comfy chair in the wonderful surroundings of The Gibberd Garden!"

>>>Lady Windermere's Fan is staged at The Gibberd Garden on Marsh Lane tomorrow (Friday) at 8pm.

Tickets cost £10 in advance, £12 on door, (£8 children under 16) and are available directly from The Gibberd Garden, online at www.dot-productions.co.uk and via the Box Office on 0843 2080 628.

Young jazz starlet's debut at St John's

A VERY special jazz session will be closing the season at St John's Arts Centre when award-winning saxophone and clarinet star Amy Roberts enters the spotlight to make her debut appearance at the centre next Thursday (August 1).

The young musician is taking a break from her busy touring schedule with the Chris Barber band in order to give a first-time performance at the Market Street centre.

Amy, from West Cornwall, was voted winner of the Rising Star Category in the British Jazz Awards in both 2009 and 2011. She has played all over the UK and overseas and is well known on the jazz circuit as a charismatic and talented, performer on the flute, clarinet and saxophone.

The jazz player has seen much success in her early career after graduating from the Royal Northern College of Music - where she studied Classical Saxophone and performed with the university's Big Band - with a First Class Honours.

2011 was one of Amy's biggest years as she became the first female musician to join the Big Chris Barber Band - a band first formed in 1949 and inspired by the King Oliver Creole Jazz Band - and was featured in highly-esteemed glossy Clarinet and Saxophone Society Magazine.

The starlet has recently finished recording an album, which is set to be released next year.

Joining Amy for what guarantees to be an evening of first-class swing music, will be Essex-based Stride pianist Dave Browning.

Dave has become a popular figure at St John's Arts Centre and has been an audience favourite with his exciting 'Fats' Waller approach to the piano, which stretches right back to the Gatsby era of the Roarin' 1920's.

Harlow bassist, Keith Donald will also feature, as will ex-Harlow drummer' man and jazz historian, John Petters.

>>>Amy Barber performs at the ARC on Thursday, August 1. Admission is just £10 and further information is available on 01406 365731.

Holiday homework

IT'S THE same every year; the garden reaches its peak with borders bursting into bloom, patio plants beginning their dazzling displays, and fruits swelling in the vegetable garden – and then you go on holiday for two weeks...

Of course, if you have friendly neighbours or family nearby who can water and deadhead your plants while you're away, then you don't have much to worry about. Their reward can be harvesting some of your vegetables and eating them when they are fresh, or treating themselves to a bunch of cut flowers from your plot. If they help themselves to crops that need regular picking, like beans and courgettes, the plants should still be cropping well for when you return home too.

But if you don't have such kindly helpers, how are your plants going to manage in your absence? Luckily, there are some measures you can take to help your plants survive for a while without you.

If you have patio plants, water them well before you go away, maybe even dunking the pot into a bigger bucket of water so it soaks the compost completely from below, then put all the pots together (this encourages humidity) in a shady spot so there's less evaporation while you're away.

by Hannah Stephenson

If you have space, dig a small hole in the border soil in a shady spot and rest your hanging basket in the hole, watering it well so it is completely soaked. Some of the escaping water will moisten the soil underneath, helping keep your plants damp in your absence.

If you haven't invested in automatic irrigation systems you can set up a temporary automatic watering system by submerging strips of capillary matting in a trug full of water and then running the end of the strips to your containers. The matting absorbs and holds water which can be drawn up by the soil in the pots. Set the system up a week before you go to ensure it's working. Alternatively, cover the soil surface with water-absorbing gel, watering it so that it swells and absorbs water. This provides a protective barrier to stop water evaporating from the compost and also gives the compost some moisture. The crystals will also soak up and hold moisture if it rains while you're away.

Remove all open flowers from healthy bedding plants so they produce a flush of new blooms on your return and feed them with a liquid fertiliser, following the instructions on the packet. Don't be tempted to give them any extra feed. You can take the shears to some annuals, trimming off the old blooms to make way for new buds to develop, which should give you some colour on your return.

Cut the grass and trim the edges before you go and it will survive quite happily without you. If it's long on your return, don't cut it short immediately or it will turn yellowy brown. Instead, raise the mower blades for the first cut and gradually lower them over the next two or three.

Established borders should be all right without water for a week or two, as the roots of established plants will go deep into the soil for moisture. However, make sure you weed before you go, as weed seedling can soon take over. Give the area a good water and then mulch with organic matter to help retain the moisture.

Hopefully, you will return from your break to find a garden not as tired as it might otherwise have been!

Look Hugh's back: Wolverine returns

X-FACTOR: Hugh Jackman dons the Adamantium claws for the sixth time in The Wolverine

THE WOLVERINE
certificate 12A, 2h6m

Hugh Jackman owes a great deal of his enduring popularity to the muscular swagger and trademark sideburns of Wolverine. The Australian actor first donned the Adamantium claws of the hirsute Marvel Comics superhero in the 2000 blockbuster X-Men, not long after an Olivier Award nomination for Best Actor in the National Theatre's staging of Oklahoma!

His portrayal of singing cowboy Curly on stage was far removed from the brooding masculinity of Wolverine, but Jackman impressed fans with his physical prowess and deadpan delivery of the script's one-liners.

He has since bulked up as the mutant warrior on four more occasions, including the disappointing stand-alone feature X-Men Origins: Wolverine and an uncredited cameo in the 2011 prequel, X-Men: First Class.

For this latest instalment, which has tellingly lost any mention of X-Men from the title, director James Mangold draws inspiration from a 1982 comic book storyline set in Japan to strip back the testosterone-fuelled action in favour of soul-searching and romance.

There are still spectacular set pieces including fisticuffs inside and on top of a speeding bullet train, but screenwriters Mark Bomback, Scott Frank and Christopher McQuarrie aren't noticeably in a rush to deliver the next adrenaline-pumping thrill.

The film opens with a flashback to 1945 Nagasaki, where Logan (Jackman) is held prisoner by the Japanese. As the bomb detonates, Logan protects one kind officer, Shingen Yashida, from the radiation blast - his mutant powers allowing him to recover almost instantly from the fireball.

Years later, Logan is living alone in the woods, haunted by the death of Jean Grey (Famke Janssen). A swordswoman called Yukio (Rila Fukushima) tracks him down and asks him to accompany her to Japan to meet with the old and frail Shingen. "He wants to say thank you for saving his life all those years ago," she smiles.

Reluctantly, Logan agrees and he is shocked to find Shingen (Horiyuki Sanada) on his deathbed, under the constant surveillance of a statuesque medic (Svetlana Khodchenkova).

Soon after, Shingen dies and the Yazuka attempts to kidnap his beloved granddaughter Mariko (Tao Okamoto). But Logan rescues Mariko in the nick of time, and she develops deep feelings for her protector.

The Wolverine is a welcome change of style and pace for the franchise, and Jackman excels in the quieter moments.

But twists and turns in the plot conceal few surprises and the inclusion of a second mutant is completely unnecessary, presumably a concession to the comic book universe to which Wolverine must return in next summer's X-Men: Days Of Future Past.

THE SMURFS 2 (2D/3D)
certificate U, 1h44m

In the sequel to the popular 2011 family film - the middle chapter of an intended trilogy - evil wizard Gargamel (Hank Azaria) ramps up his efforts to destroy The Smurfs. Smurfette (voiced by Katy Perry) is downhearted when all her friends ignore her on her birthday. In fact, they are planning a surprise party to show how much they care. At her lowest ebb, Smurfette meets Vexy (Christina Ricci), a naughty imp created by Gargamel to capture Smurfette and spirit her to Paris, where he is now a successful magician. Sure enough, Vexy transports Smurfette to the French capital, where the nefarious wizard intends to extract enough Smurf essence to keep alive his flourishing showbusiness career. Once Papa Smurf (Jonathan Winters) learns of the kidnapping, he creates crystals to travel to New York City where old friend Patrick Winslow (Neil Patrick Harris) can help the Smurfs to save the abducted heroine. Unfortunately, Clumsy (Anton Yelchin), Grouchy (George Lopez) and Vanity (John Oliver) mistakenly use the crystals so Papa Smurf must orchestrate his daring mission, with three of the least helpful Smurfs at his side.

THE HEAT
certificate 15, 1h57m

FBI Special Agent Sarah Ashburn (Sandra Bullock) is one of the best and brightest operatives in the New York field office run by Hale (Demian Bichir). Unfortunately, her lack of people skills rubs colleagues up the wrong way, jeopardising a forthcoming promotion to the upper echelons of the service. So Hale dispatches Sarah to Boston, promising her promotion if she can demonstrate she can work with the local detectives to investigate and potentially bring down an enigmatic drug kingpin named Larkin. In Boston, Sarah runs into rebel cop Shanon Mullins (Melissa McCarthy), who has bullied all of the men in her precinct into cowering submission. Sarah refuses to kowtow to the intimidation but knows that she must work with Shanon if she is to rise up the ranks of the FBI. So the two women reluctantly join forces to unmask Larkin. Their haphazard tactics jeopardise a long-running undercover operation masterminded by DEA agents Adam (Taran Killam) and Craig (Dan Bakkedahl). Meanwhile, the case becomes uncomfortably personal for Shanon when her ex-con brother, Jason (Michael Rapaport), is caught on camera fraternising with Larkin's associates.

THE WORLD'S END A prologue set in June 1990 sketches the bonds of friendship between five teenagers, who fail to complete a crawl of 12 local pubs culminating in a final glorious pint at The World's End. Two decades later, the ringleader, Gary King (Simon Pegg), decides to bring the lads back together to complete the booze-fuelled feat. "This time we are going to see it through to the bitter end!" Gary tells Andrew (Nick Frost), Steven (Paddy Considine), Oliver (Martin Freeman) and Peter (Eddie Marsan), who have all grown up, got jobs and settled down. But the crawl takes an unexpected turn when Gary unmasks the strangely emotionless residents as robotic doppelgangers.

Converted schoolhouse is full of Victorian charm

Location Churchgate Street, Harlow

Category Converted Victorian schoolhouse

Additional Built in 1850, this beautiful detached property features gothic stonework, vaulted ceilings and extensive grounds

Guide price £849,950

Agent Wright & Co, 4 Church Street, Sawbridgeworth; Tel: (01279) 600400

DATING back to 1850, this former school in Churchgate Street is a stunning example of Victorian architecture, with gothic stonework and dramatic interiors.

The Grade II listed property has been sympathetically converted to create a stunning house and is situated in the centre of the popular village of Churchgate Street - a thriving community with a post office store, pub, schools and an active local church.

Old Harlow is just a short distance away, while Harlow Mill station is a 20 minute walk with mainline access to London Liverpool Street and Cambridge.

The Old School has undergone much improvement by the present owners, including an upgrade to the heating system and a beautiful bespoke mahogany staircase to the grand hall.

There is spacious accommodation with a large first floor sitting room, good size dining room, study, two ground floor bedrooms and a spacious master bedroom with luxury shower room and dressing room.

There are many wonderful original features, including beautiful heavy structured vaulted ceilings and crafted stonework.

To the rear of the kitchen is an enclosed entertaining area which is paved with a wall and outside lighting. A feature Gothic arch then leads to an enclosed garden with a further gateway through to the children's garden, which is also laid to lawn with retained borders, a timber summer house, double opening doors and a small veranda.

To the front there is parking with a pergola style carport and a large pond. It is screened from the road by mature hedging and there is outside lighting.

Call Wright & Co on (01279) 600400 for details.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

THE staple topic of dinner party conversation is back with the news that house prices are on the move again.

According to property website Rightmove, average asking prices for a home in the UK broke through the £250k barrier for the first time last month - and in the Property News area that figure is likely to be higher.

The record high was achieved as the national average asking price rose 1.2% in June - the sixth consecutive monthly rise this year. The average asking price now stands at £252,798.

Not surprisingly, the south-east is the rising star, with a 14.8% change in asking prices in the first six months of 2013.

Director and housing market analyst at Rightmove, Miles Shipside, claims that although "June sees several new price records, it's the south-east that has really started to lift-off."

"While some northern regions outpaced London this year, the price gap remains, with the average price of a property in London still more than three times higher than in the north," added Mr Shipside.

According to Rightmove, several factors have contributed to the up-turn in the housing market, including consumer confidence in the housing market and low mortgage rates.

If you're selling, this could be good news but once again, the first time buyers are in trouble and face the prospect of having to save for even longer.

"It is worth remembering that, while the asking price and the eventual sale price may differ by a small margin," says Miles Shipside. "The asking price is a very strong indicator of perceived market value and direction."

There are many styles of estate agency operating in the Harlow area, and picking the right one to sell your property can be daunting.

Over this series of articles we have made reference to a number of issues to consider so that you can make an informed choice when the time comes for you to sell.

Different agencies provide different services, yet some people are not aware of the indirect benefit that apparently unrelated services can offer. For example, choosing a selling agent who also does lettings could be the make or break of your sale! There are several reasons for this:

Firstly, as sales and lettings agents, we have long-term buy-to-let property investors permanently on our books who buy through us regularly. They know us, and they make quick decisions and reliable offers. They prefer to buy through an agency that does lettings because it is easy for them to let out their new investment, as we are often able to find a tenant who can move in immediately the property sale has completed.

Secondly, many of our tenants subsequently go on to buy a property. As we build a relationship with our tenants we are therefore in prime position to be able to help them buy one of our own clients' properties.

Thirdly, there are times when a vendor decides not to sell, but to rent, or even pursue both routes simultaneously, in which case we are of course well positioned to handle both. Likewise, it is often the case that a prospective tenant decides to buy instead of renting, again adding to our stock of pre-qualified buyers.

So when the time comes to sell, pick a letter! It will improve your chances – and probably your price!

Desperate Estate Agents!

What s with all these grubby bits of paper and begging letters they keep stuffing through my letter box Alan?

Or, the photocopy of your house details printed direct from rightmove with a badly worded note from Luke, asking you to ring a mobile number. Is someone keen to buy your home, you may ask? Nope, Luke works for an estate agency and is trying to tout your house from your chosen agent. Why? Good question!

Basically he is trying to persuade you to switch agencies so he can boost his portfolio, generally because no one wishes to use him. That in itself is an indictment of his popularity and integrity! The directive from The Property Ombudsman, who are meant to monitor agents habits and protect you as The Consumer is as follows, and I quote Unsolicited Approaches it has been the practise of a number of (my) member agents to seek business (touting that is) by putting notes through doors of properties for sale with other agents and handwritten messages etc

They clearly state it s against their Rules of Conduct and can lead to, and I quote from them again this sort of approach may also be offensive, possibly worrying, possibly giving false hope . There you are, you have been warned. If it happens to you, my best advice is to pass on these scrappy bits of paper to your chosen agent and don't get involved.

Alan Howick.

SAFETY THROUGH THE AGES

The UK's highways and byways can be a dangerous place. In fact, road travel is one of the riskiest of all the forms of transport regularly used in modern society.

It all makes dismal reading for the millions of us who climb into our cars and set off onto the road network each morning but we can still take solace from the fact that things could be a lot worse.

When it comes to car safety, huge strides forward have been made in recent years. Today's cars are rigorously tested and forced to comply with stringent standards in a bid to make them as safe as possible.

In January 2003 we celebrated the 20th anniversary of the invention of the three-point car safety belt, this was just the first in a long line of safety innovations that have found their way into motor vehicles over the years and there's plenty of products still on the drawing board with the potential to make road travel safer still.

Seat belts, airbags, protection beams, anti-submarine seats, active head restraints, crumple zones, seatbelt pre-tensioners, all these things are comparatively commonplace as occupant protection measures in new cars.

While the drive for greater pedestrian safety has seen deformable bumpers, collapsible wing-mirrors, softer bonnets, recessed windscreen wipers and sloping front ends all introduced.

In addition, active safety features like ABS, traction control and high-level brake lights have all been taken up by the industry. It's fair to say that our cars are fairly fully loaded with safety orientated features but what other developments might we see in future.

Impact absorbing bonnets, external airbags and night vision systems are all possible as is the prospect of an artificial intelligence system to identify dangers and behave accordingly.

The possibilities are endless but car safety is a feature that buyers are increasingly demanding so we should be seeing further developments before too long.

BUS WOES

The Association of British Drivers has produced a series of ten points on why the government should rethink its Integrated Transport Policy.

1. National Environment Technology Centre data shows that an average diesel engined bus emits as much particulate pollution as 128 cars, and as much oxides of nitrogen (NOx) as 39 cars.
2. Automotive Advisers and Associates, Hilden, Germany, studied public transport and concluded that that buses and their public transport alternatives consume 60% more energy than cars per person transported, and take up 200% more public space.
3. The University of Tokyo has found the chemical 3-nitrobenzanthrone in diesel bus exhausts when the engine is under load, e.g. when pulling away from a High Street bus stop. At the time of its identification this chemical was, and probably still is, one of the most carcinogenic chemicals known to science.
4. The Transport Research Laboratory studied options for a future Low Emission Zone (LEZ) in London and concluded in report TRL 431 that "restrictions on cars on air quality grounds have been shown not to be warranted by this study". The report went on to point out that diesel engined buses were a much better target for the pollution police.
5. Bus services across the UK were heavily criticized in the Audit Commission report 'All Aboard' (1999), which painted a picture of a fragmented, unreliable and inflexible service.
6. Bus companies cannot always be relied upon to maintain services.
7. Another example of an environmentally friendly transport policy from abroad is provided by the USA, where in parts of Florida buses are a thing of the past - a more individualised and greener service is provided by community taxis.
8. There are public safety issues regarding bus travel for lone females at night, as well as the dangers to all passengers and passers-by posed by maintenance levels which are enough to worry transport union spokesmen.
9. Waiting at a cold wet bus stop in winter - for a bus which may or may not arrive - is not an option for many infirm and elderly people, while those in rural communities frequently rely on their cars to maintain quality of life.
10. The freedom to choose a mode of transport - as championed by Government transport supremo Lord Macdonald - is one which the ABD would wish to see enacted in policy terms, as the deck is currently stacked against the car user in terms of subsidies, access, and fiscal disincentives.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

On 12 July 2013 Essex County Council confirmed the above Order made under section 119 of the Highways Act 1980.

The effect of the Order will be to divert a part length of Footpath 80 in the District of Harlow, as shown on the Order map contained in this Order, from its junction with Parkway roundabout northwards between St George House and Cavendish House to an alternative route being 2 metres in width slightly to the west where it meets the unaffected part of Footpath 80 leading to Eastend.

A copy of the Order and the Order Map have been placed in and may be seen free of charge at Harlow District Council Offices at Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, Harlow CM20 1WG and at the Chelmsford Public Library, Market Road, Chelmsford during normal working hours. Rams of tomorrow put through their paces

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Rams players of tomorrow were put through their paces at a rugby taster session.

More than 70 children took part in the 'come and try it day' at Harlow Rugby Club.

Many of them came as a result of seeing the story we ran in the Star.

They were joined by children from the Elizabeth Way club's mini rugby section, whose participation allowed the coaches to provide the newcomers with a more realistic introduction to the game.

Club press spokesman Dave Sharp said: "It was a fantastic morning; the weather was treating us to another scorching day. The parents could sit back relax and watch their children do all the hard work."

The participants were divided into their age groups and started practising the different mini rugby skills of running with a ball, passing and tagging.

There were periodic breaks for players and of course the coaches to re-hydrate.

"There were lots of smiles and as the session progressed many kids scored tries which they were very happy about," beamed Sharp.

"At the end of the session refreshments were available in the form of ice lollies, soft drinks and cakes, which helped everyone cool down. Some of the parents found the liquid refreshment the bar offered a perfect antidote to the warm weather! It also provided time for coaches and squad volunteers to answer questions from parents at the club for the first time."

Rams operate youth teams starting from U-7s.

The first team play in division three north east of the RFU London

Poor batting costs Harlow dearly against Loughton

A LACK of depth in the Harlow batting proved costly as they slipped to a four wicket home defeat against league leaders Loughton.

Saturday's result also meant that the Marigolds side remained rooted to bottom spot in division one of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Hosts' skipper Luke Heskett won the toss and decided to bat.

Harlow lost opener Conor Ramsay for a duck when he was bowled by Arslan Shahid to leave the hosts on 14-1.

Rehman Ahmed then held the batting together, sharing stands of 52 with Nino Calvino, who made an aggressive 45, and 51 with Ahmed Khawaja.

Rehman then fell for 33 to leave Harlow on 114-3.

Although Khawaja went on to make 64, the rest of the Harlow batting folded with no-one else making double figures as they slumped to 184 all out.

Bilal Butt claimed 5-47 for Loughton.

In reply, Loughton slipped to 19-2 as Harlow's opening bowlers Andrew McGarry and Luke Monger took a wicket apiece.

But Fahad Anwar held their innings together with a match winning 120-ball knock of 67 not out.

Three other batsmen chipped in with 20s as Loughton (186-6) reached the target.

McGarry (2-42) and Monger (2-57) were the most successful Harlow bowlers.

Fever pitch as Hawks unveil new surface

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman says he is excited as his team are set to play their first game against Potters Bar Town on the new 3G pitch.

There will be a charity day at Barrows Farm where the new pitch will be used this Sunday, but Tuesday's match will be the first time it is used by Harlow Town.

It comes after Hawks have a behind closed doors friendly against FC Haringey at Mark Hall on Saturday.

Chapman said: "We need to get used to it and there will be a different bounce."

"It is a positive thing and we are looking forward to it."

He added: "It made me want to play football again and hopefully there will be a few people there."

"Potters Bar will provide a good test for us and will tell us where we are."

Harlow continued their pre-season campaign with a 4-3 win at Essex Senior League side Sawbridgeworth Town on Saturday.

The Hawks netted through Joakim Ehui, Chinedu McKenzie and Shane Stamp.

An own goal completed the tally.

Alex Read then grabbed four goals and Robbie Martin netted the other when Harlow won 5-1 at Bowers & Pitsea on Tuesday.

Chapman said: "Our second and third games [pre-season] were more about fitness than anything."

"We are moving in the right direction and we are streets ahead of where we were this time last year."

Chapman was impressed with Read's poaching abilities.

"He took his goals well and two of them he created with his own movement," said Harlow's manager.

Chapman likes the idea of a 4-3-3 formation but said he is prepared to change it to fit players' strengths.

DERBY WIN: Harlow Town celebrate a goal being scored during the 4-3 friendly win at Sawbridgeworth Town on Saturday Photo: Vikki Lince

He was impressed by how well McKenzie linked up front with Read.

He said: "Last night [Tuesday] was the first time that they had played together and it worked well."

"You do not knock a gift horse in the mouth."

He added: "Four of our goals came from crosses. We want to get the ball out wide quickly and get crosses in."

Chapman said that defender

Christian Wheeler has been suffering from a groin strain but will be in action soon, while care will be taken with Donny Barnard.

Barnard's season was last year dogged by injuries.

"We will take care with Donny Barnard and there will be a training session and game he will miss and he will be rested from them," explained Chapman.

The Hawks boss has also completed the re-signing of centre-half and former Ware defender Michael Akande.

Midfielder Shaun Gliddon has returned to the club after a spell at Enfield 1893.

Brothers shine in Town victory

HARLOW Town held their nerve as they gained a four wicket win at Basildon & Pitsea in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League.

Basildon batted first on Saturday and slumped to 62-4 before they recovered to make 219 all out.

John Bonnett struck 54, while Dan Farmer claimed 2-30 and Ronnie Yates took 4-22.

In reply, Town lost an early wicket. But they bounced back through Shiraz Ali (54) and Scott Alderson (32) who shared a stand of 68.

However, there was a flurry of wickets as Harlow subsided 120-6. With just 16 over remaining the game looked to be heading towards the hosts.

Skipper Ashley Alderson (62 not out) and his brother Shaun (33 not out) repaired the damage and steered their side home with three overs to spare.

Ashley Alderson said: "That was probably our best bowling and all round fielding performance of the year."

"We got ourselves in a bit of trouble again with the bat but I was glad to still be there at the end."

He added: "Shaun batted really well and we ran hard which put them under pressure and that showed towards the end."

Darryl Pettengell (44) and Wade Norcott (42 not out) batted well as Harlow Town II (158-6) drew with Old Southendians & Southchurch CC 2nd XI (175 for 9; Conor Fussell 3-27) drew at home in division three of the 2nd XI league.

Town received 19 fewer overs than the visitors had to bat.

Apart from Kieran Gleeson (65) and Max Poulter (33), poor batting saw Harlow Town IV (150) lose by nine wickets at Loughton IV (153-1) in division three of the 3rd XI League.

Harlow Town IV (177-6; Paul Smith 38) drew with Old Southendians & Southchurch CC IV (236-7; Dan Gleeson 3-30) in division two of the 4th XI League. Other result: Harlow Tn V 103 (Dave Hurley 30) lost to Leigh on Sea CC IV (216-5) by 113 runs.
